Apothekertrakt (Apothecaries' Wing) – Orangery
White & Gold Rooms – Great Gallery

A historical venue for modern ideas

A wide variety of rooms ensures the appropriate setting for every occasion.

Apothekertrakt (Apothecaries' Wing)

A place for extraordinary encounters

The Apotheke on the east side of the Schönbrunn palace grounds is the perfect multipurpose events centre, the ideal setting for conferences and meetings, as well as a venue for exhibitions, trade fairs, dinners and weddings. The ten rooms with their different sizes and atmospheres are linked by spacious light-flooded areas that are ideal for taking a break. An outstanding aspect is the harmonious interaction between the historical building and the modern equipment.

The terraces in the Orangery Garden and the Apothecaries' Court provide outside areas that connect to the ground floor barrier-free facilities by means of direct access routes.

White and Gold Rooms and Great Gallery

Where events breathe history

The rooms directly in the Palace sparkle with their historical and imperial furnishing. Precious leaf gold decorates the White and Gold Rooms on the palace's ground floor. These four rooms are each of a different size, and can be selected to meet the size of the event. The terrace into the Palace Park presents a breathtaking view of the Gloriette.

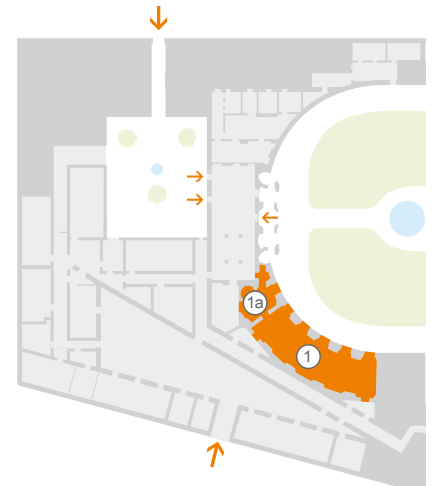

The Great Gallery on the palace's main floor communicates a flair of unadulterated exclusiveness. Only available during evening hours, the rooms have an atmosphere that takes you back to the age of the Empire.

Orangery

Baroque festive culture and garden splendor

The Orangery provides an imposing setting for your events. The room, 700m² in size, its appearance elegant and yet reticent, is ideal for staging your event in a style that is both traditionally imperial as well as modern – regardless of whether it is a dinner, a lecture or an exhibition. Give your guests a feast for their eyes with the direct connection between the Orangery garden and the banqueting hall. Let the gravel forecourt to the Orangery be transformed into your event's elegant interval zone. And what is more, in the summer months you can hire the Pflanzenorangerie (Plant Orangery) – all 1200m² of it.

An exciting architectural setting

In the largest room, Maria Theresia, once used for overwintering rare citron trees, the slightly curving shape and rounded arches allow for a variety of arrangement possibilities.

Two screens provide an audience of up to 200 with a good view of presentations at conferences. Numerous lighting possibilities – including four elegant chandeliers – can be controlled separately to create the perfect atmosphere. The large double doors give a view of the Baroque Orangery Garden, with a terrace that can be integrated into your event.

The adjoining Habsburg Room is popular as an extension for additional items on the programme, but can also be used for registry office weddings.

Dinner

It is as part of festive events that the Maria Theresa room displays its magnificence at its best. It provides space for up to 160 persons, while the adjoining Habsburg Room can be used as an extension for a buffet or as a bar. The unforgettable atmosphere of the Orangery Garden terrace makes it the ideal setting for a wonderful end to the evening.

Trade fairs and exhibitions

The Maria Theresa room is an elegant presentation area for trade fairs and exhibitions. In combination with the Orangery Garden foyer or the Spitzhof foyer, it constitutes a spacious trade fair and exhibitor surface that is open without restrictions to all guests thanks to its location on the ground floor and its barrier-free access.

A place for encounters

The smallest of our rooms is ideal for making small groups feel particularly at ease. The particular attraction is its direct access to the leafy outer area in the Spitzhof, whose special feature is its design in the form of a Japanese garden.

Alongside the classical use as seminar room, it is often used for press conferences or as an organisation office.

An Imperial invitation

During the day, these two rooms are the central point and highlight of visits to the palace. The Great Gallery was lavishly renovated in 2012 and now once again shines in full glory as an imperial setting for magnificent concerts and evening events.

A cocktail in combination with an evening tour of the palace's staterooms on the first floor can be organised and would be a welcome surprise for your guests.

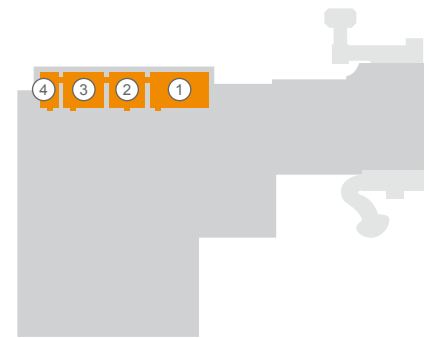

White and Gold Rooms

Events with an imperial flair

Whether dinner, cocktails, a concert or a presentation – the White and Gold Rooms are a special setting for every occasion. The rooms with gilded carvings and the reconstructed parquet floor bring the imperial glory back to life. The french windows give onto the Baroque palace garden and the Gloriette. The terrace can also be included in the event. Registry office weddings are also extremely popular. The rooms, available individually or in combination, give any event a very special flair.

Baroque Festive Culture and Garden Splendour

During the Baroque epoch the Orangery was not used merely as a place for keeping rare and exotic plants. It was also a central location for courtly festive culture.

Keeping to this tradition, the Orangery today offers an imposing setting for your events. The space covers 700 m² and impresses all comers with its elegant appearance, accommodating both a traditional and a modern scenario for your event – whether dinner, lecture or exhibition. Impress your guests with the direct connection between the Orangery garden and the banqueting hall. Enjoy the gravelled patio in front of the Orangery as your event's interval zone. And on top of this you can hire the Plant Orangery as well during the summer months, all 1200 square metres of it.
